Kimchi

"This traditional Korean dish, generally made with spicy pickled cabbage, is popping up on menus at all types of restaurants. And since any vegetable can be fermented in ginger, garlic and chiles to punch up the flavor, we're seeing kimchi-style cucumbers, eggplant, radishes and more!" —Danyelle Freeman, founder, Restaurantgirl.com

Travel

"Pet owners are taking their four-legged friends with them on vacation, leading to an upswing in animal-focused travel services and goods. Certain airlines run pet-only flights, and sites like Bringfido.com promote dog-friendly hotels and attractions around the world." —Dara Foster, cofounder, Pupstyle.com

Orange Cars

"Automotive brands from Toyota to Scion to Hyundai (shown) are releasing cars this spring in bright orange. Some call the shade Habanero; others call it Vitamin C. It's a fun, sunny color that's a definite mood-booster!"

very strong light, they don't work everywhere. This season, people are installing low-voltage electric lights in areas that need extra illumination." —John Gidding, host of HGTV's Curb Appeal

Vampire & Werewolf Novels

"Readers are getting tired of the vampire-werewolf rivalry and looking instead to books about angels and devils. The titles coming out this spring in the genre are almost too numerous to count—check out Immortal City by Scott Speer or Illuminate by Aimee Agresti." —Elisabeth Watson, associate editor, Publishingtrends.com
